

StratCom's new logo: "Domination is Our Profession"

Does he know what it means to grow up? He thinks they're nuclear toys.

Voices from Two Different Stories:

FEAR (STRATCOM) believes that peace can only be obtained by great military dominance of America over the world. Fear the terrorists, find them, and then destroy them.

HOPE: I create hope. Americans, I challenge you to be honest. No nation wants to be dominated. Nations will soon rise up and throw off America. We must become peaceful if humans are to survive. StratCom, to you I say, stop playing war games with the lives of our children. I laugh with ridicule at your plan. It's silly, unworkable. My Spirit seems outraged at your stupidity — "DOMINATION IS OUR PROFESSION."

Comments: ■ Strategic Air Command (SAC) has been replaced by StratCom, which is considerably greater in power and scope. ■ Peace through strength is a fallacy. Our vulnerability is the people who are without homes, nutrition, education, health care. Ultimately the security of our nation is found in a spirit. It is found in the strength of heart and mind of the people. —Mark Hatfield, U.S. Senator. ■ StratCom is an expression of the American government that is militarizing space and the world, and moving away from cooperation.
